

How profits depend on the probability of a minor invention

- ◆ If the probability of a major invention is very high, then a full disclosure policy is optimal.
- ◆ If the probability is very low, a nondiscriminatory policy is more profitable.
- ◆ Otherwise only major inventions are rewarded.

